Helvetica Neue 75 Bold 8/11pt 1mm para spacing Body Copy Header	Header A period of time living and studying abroad, together with advanced language skills, can have a very positive impact on your future employment prospects. Academic work undertaken during a period abroad may count towards final degree results. www.uea.ac.uk/studyabroad A year in North America or Australasia Students on some degree courses can take advantage of Year Abroad programmes at nearly 70 universities and colleges throughout the United States, Canada, Hong Kong and Australasia. You can spend up to a full academic year in Sydney, Los Angeles or Washington DC. Other locations include sites in British Columbia, Queensland, Arizona, Tasmania and New Zealand. These programmes add an international dimension to your academic qualification, while giving you the chance to experience life in another English-speaking culture.	Header Students from many of our Schools of Study have the opportunity to spend a full academic year or semester in Europe as part of their degree, either as a study or work placement. If you wish to do so, you are encouraged to take language classes as soon as possible. The University is an active participant in the European Commission's ERASMUS programme and has links with more than 90 partner institutions in the following countries: Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Lithuania, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Romania, Slovakia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey. Header We welcome students of all ages and backgrounds and operate a flexible admissions policy, which takes into account your life and work experiences. We are always pleased to advise you on the most suitable way forward if you lack current or standard qualifications. An Access qualification or an Open University foundation course normally satisfies the general entrance requirement, but the Admissions Officer of your proposed School of Study will advise you if you would like to offer evidence of previous learning or relevant prior experience. Successful completion of the foundation year of our degree in Science is also usually acceptable for science subjects (see page 191). You may be called for an informal interview or be asked to submit an extended essay on a suitable topic. You may also be advised to undertake further study before beginning your degree. www.uea.ac.uk/return	Header We offer part-time degree programmes in a number of subject areas, allowing students with outside commitments to complete their studies over a longer period of time, typically 5–7 years. All applications are judged on their individual merits, in the same way as applications for fulltime degree programmes. Your application for a part-time degree should be made directly to the School of Study and not through the UCAS system. Part-time certificate and diploma programmes We also offer a range of part-time modular certificate and diploma courses open to anyone with an interest in or experience of the subjects. We operate a flexible admissions policy for students with no formal qualifications or recent experience of study, and provide advice and guidance about the programme and study skills support. www.uea.ac.uk/contedu Subject areas in which part-time degrees are available at the time of writing are listed below. Subject area See page – American Studies – Archaeology, Anthropology and Art History – Biochemistry – Biological Sciences – Ecology – English Literature – History – History of Art – Midwifery – Music – Nursing – Philosophy – Science with a Foundation Year Please contact the appropriate School directly for further information about studying these subjects part-time.
