

Monday 1st - Sunday 14th October 2012

Millennium Library and Fusion, the Forum, Norwich

The School of American Studies at the UEA presents a public exhibition of the Sarah Hicks Williams letters, a northerner in the slaveholding South during the mid-nineteenth century.

There will also be a related series of free public lectures to be hosted at Fusion and the Millennium Library, and cafe conversations, taking place in Café Bar Marzano at the Forum, reflecting on Black History in the African Diaspora. Go to:
