EDU Doctoral Theses 2008-13
Available from the UEA Library

2008-2009

Hammad, W.S. (2008) Challenges to shared decision-making in Egyptian schools: a study of teachers in general secondary schools in Damietta County. PhD

Hui-Lo, J.M.C. (2009) Moving towards a contextual and cultural specific understanding of parent involvement in kindergarten education in Hong Kong. PhD

Jolliffe, S.A. (2008) Widening or increasing participation within further education: a case study of a group of women returners and the barriers they faced on their journey to move on. PhD

Kok, Y.J. (2009) An exploration of some of the more tangible aspects of a school facing challenging circumstances. EdD

Lam, S. (2008) A Teacher's Odyssey: critical reflections on implementing a writing course. PhD

Leung, K.W. (2009) Exploring ways to foster the creativity process in computer and information technology (CIT) lessons. PhD

NG, K.W.C. (2008) An odyssey between fragments: post-modernity, power, networks and identities in Hong Kong secondary schools. PhD

Yarker, P.S. (2008) Teachers, testing, tensions and compliance: How do teachers of English at Key Stage 3 experience the requirement to prepare their students for the national Curriculum testing?. PhD

Zorrilla, A.M. (2008) Educational television beyond the TV set: educational media convergence in the UK and a proposal for the Mexican model. PhD

2009 – 2010

NG, K.C. (2010) ESL teachers’ beliefs and implementation of task-based learning in secondary schools of Hong Kong: an exploratory case study. PhD

Wong, P.W. (2010) To explore how high potential Chinese managers who are acquainted with each other practise critical reflective working behaviours through an in-house action learning programme. PhD

2010 – 2011

Ashley, R. (2011) Because I say so!: the spirit of the child at the mercy of an adult in pain: impacts of hidden generational bullying, and prospects for hope and resilience. PhD

Tamisoglou, C. (2011) What effect does school history have on Greek nationality pupils in relation to their ideas about their own nation and ‘significant other’ nations and their people? PhD
Walton, C. (2011) …and…between I and Thou: stretching metaxic space for children as seen from the perspective of my own spiritual journey. PhD

2011 - 2012

Cunanan, M.M. (2011) Dividing classes: segregation of ethnic minorities in Hong Kong school. PhD

Harrington, C.L. (2012) The space between: performance the body and scholarship. PhD

Mikuni, M. (2011) ‘My soul needs to be washed’: an exploration of the basic encounter group in Japan. PhD

2012 – 2013

Einarsdottirm, (2013) Women’s Adult Education as a ‘Site of Struggle’ in Marriage in Mozambique: Exploring the use of a Narrative Approach. PhD

Ho, L. (2012) Educational drama in three Hong Kong secondary schools. PhD

Man, F.L.C. (2013) The process of exploring how associate degree students can become successful self-regulated learners in higher education. PhD

Oledzka-Nielm, (2013) Learning Gender: The link with violence in and around schools in Mozambique. PhD

Webster, R.C (2013) Capturing what is of value to children: a study exploring the challenges, advantages and issues of participatory research with 5 and 6 year olds. EdD