

UEA Undergraduate Bursary General Terms and Conditions 2023/24 and 2024/25 Entry

Important and surprising terms and conditions

Bursaries may not be combined with other bursaries, but students may be eligible for scholarships in addition to any bursaries.

Support is provided for no more than four years even if the course is longer. A foundation year counts as one year of study towards your maximum of four years bursary support.

Payment of cash bursaries will be made in three instalments throughout the academic year.

- For student who commence their studies in September (standard start date) the payments will be made 25% of total will be paid in October, 25% of the total will be paid in February and 50% of the total will be paid in May.

What is a bursary?

A bursary is an award or payment made to support a student's education, awarded on the basis of household income and/or other demographic characteristic.

Students will receive a bursary from the University during every year of study for which they have an eligible household income, for up to four years of undergraduate study.

The amount payable will be dependent upon a student's household income as assessed by Student Finance England (Household income shall be defined as either parental income, if student is classed as a dependent or students' own income if classed as an independent student).

What UEA bursary scheme do these terms and conditions apply to?

About these terms

For UEA's Student General Terms and Conditions please refer to: <https://portal.uea.ac.uk/academic-calendar/general-regulations>

If successful, you will be registered and enrolled with us as a full-time or part-time undergraduate student for a credit-bearing undergraduate programme under our Degree Regulations set out in the University Calendar. You must abide by our Charter, Statutes, Ordinances, Regulations and Policies in force.

We may make changes to these Terms from time to time and the version that is applicable to you will be those that were in force at the date of your first enrolment with us.

If you wish to decline a bursary offer from us prior to registering at the University please email bursaries@uea.ac.uk. We will then withdraw our bursary offer and confirm this in writing. Any offer of a place on one of our courses would not be affected.

Payment of a Bursary

Students do not need to apply for bursary support. The University will assess who is eligible using household income information provided by Student Finance England and will notify the student accordingly.

By default, bursaries shall be offered as a fee waiver, though students may opt to receive their bursary as an accommodation discount or a cash payment.

- A student will only be eligible for an accommodation discount if living in University residences.

Payment of cash bursaries will be made in three instalments throughout the academic year.

- For student who commence their studies in September (standard start date) the payments will be made 25% of total will be paid in October, 25% of the total will be paid in February and 50% of the total will be paid in May.
- For students with a non-standard start date e.g. January, payments will be made 25% of total will be paid in February and 25% of total will be paid in June and 50% of the total paid in August.

Shortly after a student has completed the initial course registration process they will be advised of bursary eligibility and asked to confirm how they would prefer the bursary to be paid. If the student does not state how they would like to receive their bursary entitlement, the bursary will be paid as the default option of a fee waiver at the end of the academic year.

Removal or Adjustment of a Bursary

Where a student is granted permission by the University for an interruption to study, the bursary shall not be payable during the period of interruption to study and shall be reassessed on return.

- The University reserves the right to obtain a refund in the event of a student gaining permission for an interruption to study.

Where a student changes the mode of their study from full-time to part-time, or vice-versa, any bursary to which the student was entitled shall be reassessed accordingly.

A student who is eligible for a reduction in gross fees - such as a year abroad, year in industry or as a member of staff - will then receive a proportional reduction on bursary, excluding reductions as a consequence of fee waivers. For example, students on year abroad pay 15% of fees and are, therefore, eligible for a maximum of 15% of their bursary.

If household income changes, so therefore could the level of eligibility for a University Bursary. In cases where a change in household income results in an increase/decrease or loss of eligibility, the University reserves the right to reclaim/increase the value of bursary under the revised eligibility.

Any bursary entitlement due to a student would be reduced pro rata on their withdrawing from the course or interruption to study, as per the University's published cut-off dates. The University reserves the right to obtain a refund to the pro-rata amount in the event of withdrawal from the course. The University reserves the right to offset bursary awards against monies overdue.

Repayment of the Bursary

In the event that your Bursary is removed, you will be liable to pay us any relevant pro-rata amount, immediately on demand.

If we have made an error in calculating your Bursary and as a result you have received any funds to which you were not entitled, we may request that you repay us the amount overpaid and you will be liable to repay it to us within 30 days of our demand.

In addition to any other rights we may have at law to take action against you for recovery or repayment, the amount so outstanding will be treated by us as a sum due to us in accordance with our General Regulations on Fees and Charges.

Marketing and Promotion

All successful Bursary holders may be asked to participate in University publicity. This may include but not be limited to public appearances, speeches, photographs, blogging and/tweeting or interviews.
